WHEN YOU REALIZE

A group of young children, likely at a preschool or kindergarten graduation, are wearing blue and red caps and gowns. The child in the center, wearing a blue cap and gown, is crying with their hand to their face. To their left, a child in a red cap and gown is smiling. To their right, another child in a blue cap and gown is looking on with a neutral expression. The background shows a whiteboard with some numbers and a pink wall.
